NDSA Workshop: Slaying the Dragon: What's at risk, and how do we rescue it?

Sponsored by the Content Working Group

The output of this workshop will be a concrete list, prioritized, for "at risk" categories that NSDA will focus on - with the beginnings of an action plan and next steps, including identifying people/institutions to do follow tasks.

Our theme is "here today, gone tomorrow":

1. Before the Workshop

   a. Kristine to transfer the information from the "at risk" categories excel spread sheet to a diagram which we will pass out to participants and will be available online prior to the workshop as well.
   b. Kristine to start a landing page at www.archive.org and assemble examples of "at risk" content which will be available before the workshop. A link to the landing page will be sent to all participants in advance of the workshop.

2. Format of Work and Outputs
   a. Diagram will be displayed at workshop. Edits may be made to diagram or spreadsheet directly, if feasible, otherwise feedback will be recorded and updated later.
   b. Examples will illustrate and help visualize idea of at-risk content
3. At the Workshop

        a. Use laptop/projector to do work, updating diagram or excel sheet during the workshop, if feasible.
        b. Review current diagram and talk through thinking behind what's already been produced
        c. Show examples of at-risk content
        d. Primary questions to be answered:
            i. What are some other examples of at-risk content?
           ii. Are the categories identified the right ones and is there agreement on prioritization? Is anything not particularly at risk (should we remove from the list) or have we missed something?
          iii. How can we best group the categorizations to help focus the Action Team's work as we move forward?
              1. If logistics allow, we may break into groups during the workshop to begin focus in on more specific details.

4. After the Workshop
    a. Summarize on wiki
    b. Divide into groups based on content categories determined during workshop
    c. Other Action items
